Single use plastic has become one of the biggest polluters in modern lives. Depending on the grade of plastics, the decomposition of the substance can take from hundreds to thousands of years. Plastic presents existential challenges to human and animals alike. The Govt. of India has initiated a major effort to eradicate the scourge of plastics. IGNOU Regional Centre Vatakara has been an able partner in this effort. The officials, Study Centre functionaries and learners of the Regional centre have taken it up as a mission to eliminate single use plastics from our daily lives. The Regional Centre conducted plastic eradication Programmes at its adopted villages. Its Study Centres made individual efforts to do away with and clean up single use plastics. The learners of the Regional Centre moped up large quantities of plastics from their localities and deposited them for recycling. The current photo album highlights these efforts.
